ABSTRACT

Malabanan, Allen Gaiza M. Socio- Demographic Profile and the Emotional Maturity of Young Couples from Selected Barangays at the Municipality Of Amadeo, Cavite. Undergraduate Thesis Bachelor of Science in Psychology, Cavite State University, Indang, Cavite. April 2007, Adviser: Mr. Renato T. Agdalpen.

This study aimed to determine the relationship between Socio-Demographic Profile and the Emotional Maturity of Young Couples. This study intended to answer the problem: "What is the Socio- Demographic Profile of the respondents? This study also aimed to answer: "What is the Emotional Maturity of the Young Couple respondents? ", and is there a significant relationship between the Socio- Demographic Profile and the Emotional Maturity level of couple respondents ? The method utilized in this study is descriptive method. Respondents are gathered using Purposive Sampling Technique from selected barangays at the municipality of Amadeo, Cavite. Respondents were 50 young couples's ages 18 to 24 years old. Based on the study, the researcher has come up with the findings that there is no significant relationship between Socio- Demographic Profile and the Emotional Maturity of Young Couples. Thus, Socio- Demographic Profile does not solely affect one's Emotional Maturity. As a proposition, the researcher recommends that even though they married at a young age, they can say that they are already matured enough to faced the different challenges that may come to their life. The researcher s hoping that through this study, she could be able to add knowledge in the field of Psychology, whereas this study would be able to guide future researcher.

INTRODUCTION

Marriage for both the husband and wife is more of a partnership that they enjoined to do together. . This partnership is of interweaving interest, and sacrifices will have to be made for the sake of both parties from which mutual understanding, concern, security and contentment in marriage can be established. There are no short-cuts to happiness in marriage. No two human beings can possibly live together in an intimate emotional relationship for a long period of time without having some misunderstanding or friction from time to time. Understanding and tolerance are required to overcome the feelings of jealousy, anger and suspicion. To think that one does not need to adopt a give and take attitude is to presume that marriage entails no sacrifice on our part.

Success in marriage is not only based on compatibility nor just finding the right partner, but by acting out with mutual respect, love and concern for each other. A happy marriage is not without ups and downs and how both would manage and accept each difference. We see faults as well as virtues, and we should accept the fact that no one is
