ABOUT THE AUTHORS

ALBERTO DOLOR YAZON, Ph.D. is a research enthusiast having presented and published several researches in both local and international fora. His skills in technical writing sprouted early in his high school to university years and continuously bloomed through trainings and experiences afterwards.

He graduated Salutatorian in 2003, finished as cum laude for the degree Bachelor of Secondary Education major in Mathematics in 2007, while holding a scholarship grant from the Department of Science and Technology (DOST), and earned his Master of Arts in Teaching Mathematics in 2010, all from the Laguna State Polytechnic University (LSPU)-San Pablo City Campus. In September 2016, he obtained his Doctor of Philosophy in Mathematics Education at Philippine Normal University-Taft, Manila.

In 2009, Dr. Yazon was awarded Pinakanamumukod-Tanging Kabataan ng Laguna – Kabataang Propesyunal by Gawad Laguna, Inc.

Currently, he holds an academic rank of Assistant Professor IV and teaches Mathematics, Statistics, and Research in both graduate and undergraduate courses. He also serves as the Chairperson for Curriculum, Instruction Development and Quality Assurance (CIDQA), Internal Quality Auditor, and BSED Program Coordinator of the College of Teacher Education, LSPU-Los Banos Campus. Likewise, he is a member of Accrediting Agency of Chartered Colleges and Universities in the Philippines, Inc. (AACUP) since September, 2017.

He shares his passion for research by serving as a research adviser for graduate students' thesis and dissertation, acting as a member of the research panel of examiners and serving as resource person in various research-related trainings for high school and elementary teachers.

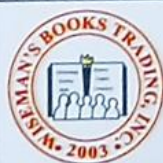

EDEN C. CALLO, Ed.D. is more than a transformational education leader, she is an academic and a writer by heart.

She finished BSED Mathematics, Cum Laude from San Pablo Colleges in 1983. She earned Master of Arts in Industrial Education-Curriculum and Instruction and Doctor of Education-Industrial Education Management at the Technological University of the Philippines, Manila in 1998 and 2005, respectively. At present, she holds the office of the Vice – President for Academic Affairs of the Laguna State Polytechnic University after serving as the Dean of the College of Teacher Education from 2014 – 2017 and Curriculum, Instruction Development and Quality Assurance (CIDQA) Chairperson for a couple of years.

Having been rooted in the academic arena for more than three decades teaching professional subjects, Statistics and Methods of Research to both undergraduate and graduate students, she has established her niche in the field of research, instruction and educational management. She has presented and published her researches in local, national and international fora. Her research interests lean towards innovations in education. In fact, her study on boosting the licensure performance of pre-service teachers yield tangible results leading the college to its present Center of Development (COD) status as recognized by CHED in 2017.

While she remains an academic and an administrator, she finds time to render expertise as adviser, statistician, technical editor, or subject specialist in both graduate thesis and dissertation.

Nonetheless, the passion for writing is deep-seated in her, whether technical, academic or literary writing. Having been in the student publication as adviser for more than fifteen years, and being the publication consultant afterwards, she led the office in producing publications of all sorts including tabloid, newsletter, folio and magazines. She also authored a special release Dr. Ricardo A. Wagan Unleashed Literary Folio, in addition to countless prose, poetry and essays.
