About the Authors

Avelina T. Llagas, EdD, CES Eligible, is the former Director, Bureau of Secondary Education, DepEd; Member of the Technical Panel for Teacher Education, 1990-2000; Chair, Board for Professional Teachers, PRC, 1999-2002; Chair, Technical Panel for Teacher Education CHED in 2001. She was a Colombo Plan Fellow in the University of Sydney for language teaching; a university scholar of the U.P.-BPS Language Teacher Training Program, College of Education, University of the Philippines. She graduated with Bachelor of Secondary Education major in English and History, and Master of Arts degrees from the College of Education U.P. She earned her Ed.D. degree from the Centro Escolar University.

As a teacher-leader she rose from the ranks: from a Department Head (English) to Assistant Principal; Principal I to Principal IV in the biggest high school in the Division of Rizal which was later converted to a Polytechnic Institute. She passed the Schools Division Superintendent Examination in 1978 and the Supervisor Examination, Civil Service Commission (CSC). As Director IV (BSE) she passed the examination and assessment of the Career Executive Service Board, hence her CES eligibility. She was an Assessor of the Executive Training Program of Educational Management Test (EMT) passers.

She was a faculty on call in Southeast Asia Interdisciplinary Development Institute (SAIDI); and in the School of Education, University of Asia and the Pacific. She was an International Quality Control Monitor of the International Association for the Evaluation of Educational Achievement (IEA) for TIMSS 1999 and 2003. She has gone full circle in the education spectrum – from a high school teacher of English and History; a department head, principal, college superintendent; and on to the DepEd Central Office where she supervised the Secondary Education Development Project (SEDP) and the Philippine-Australian Science and Mathematics Education Project (PASMEP). After 50 years in government service she remains a mentor of teachers in DepEd as consultant for the teacher induction program, Teacher Education Council. She is the recipient of the 2012 Outstanding Professional of the Year Award in the Field of Teaching by the Professional Regulation Commission; and Special Educator Award, Province of Rizal.

Brenda B. Corpuz, PhD, is a recipient of the Outstanding Professional of the Year Award in the field of Teaching from the Professional Regulation Commission on June 20, 2014. She brings into her writings the precipitate of years of teaching in basic and in higher education, administrative experiences with Colleges of Education and Graduate School; lectures delivered and researches conducted and presented in the country and abroad, consultancy services with the Department of Education funded by World Bank and AusAID (now DFAT), the latest of which is the K to 12 Curriculum; membership in the Board for Professional Teachers and experiences as LET examiner for ten years and visits to schools in Asia, America and New Zealand.

She was involved in teacher education as a presidential appointee to the Teacher Education Council as representative of higher education institutions in Luzon, chair of the Committee on Technology and Livelihood Education and member of the Technical Panel for Teacher Education of the Commission on Higher Education and of the Continuing Professional Development Council for Teachers of the Professional Regulation Commission.

She is a much-sought-after lecturer in K to 12 Curriculum, OBE and OBTL, Teaching Strategies, Assessment and in other topics in education. She was president of the Philippine Association for Teachers and Educators for six years. She is the Dean of the College of Education and Director of the Center for Teaching Excellence of the Technological Institute of the Philippines. She is a product of ICM and CICM education having finished her Bachelor of Science in Secondary Education, major in English (Magna cum laude), Master of Arts in Education major in Biology (GPA equivalent to Magna cum laude) and Doctor of Philosophy in Education major in Educational Management (GPA equivalent to Magna cum laude) from St. Louis University, Baguio City.
