INTRODUCTION

At the time and the environment in which individual grew up, people were made to believe that academic performance is the only ticket to upwards social and financial mobility. Most of the time test scores and GPA are things that will determine how a person lives the rest of their lives. People who don't excel academically are doomed for their lives (Ramanuj, 2016).

Here in the Philippines some people has that kind of mind set when it comes to someone's ability most of the time they based it on looking to educational background of a person particularly when the person is looking for a job. People believe that if the applicant has a good academic performance and has a special skills it will contribute a lot to their business. It only proves that academic performance has great factor in our lives specially those baccalaureate holder. In relation to this Bachelor of Science in Criminology is a four year degree course and to become a licence Criminologist the student must take the Criminology Licensure Examination,
